THANKYOU

Disclaimer: We take the utmost pride in the quality of our work, and place extreme attention to detail in the design and manufacture of our products. Even though we strive to design for safety, it's important to note that these products are designed for power machines, which by nature, will be dangerous. We implore you to take the utmost care in the handling and operation of your electric motors. We assume no responsibility or liability for personal injury, property damage or consequential losses resulting from the proper and improper use of our products. Please refer to the manual before use and ensure you use the appropriate safety equipment when handling high power electric motors.
